EQUALITY STATEMENT

We will regularly review our policies to ensure that we are:

- promoting equality of opportunity
- eliminating discrimination and harassment
- valuing diversity and promoting positive relationships
- providing an inclusive education which enables all pupils to develop their full potential
- meeting the requirements of the Equality Act 2010 and the protected characteristics therein.

QUALITY OF LIFE FRAMEWORK

All NAS schools and Children's services follow our Quality of life (QoL) Framework. In implementing this framework, we listen to pupils, parents and the child's keyworker to understand what is important to them in relation to their quality of life. We then work as a transdisciplinary team to ensure we plan each child's education carefully and cohesively, shaping each pupil's provision around their EHCP and agreed developmental goals in order to develop pupils' knowledge and skills now and for the future.

Policy Statement: All staff, pupils, students and parents have a role in creating a safe and positive living and learning environment.

Scope

This policy applies to all National Autistic Society schools, and staff that provide support for autistic individuals where the National Autistic Society has a duty of care. This policy should be read in conjunction with other NAS policies including: Positive Behaviour Support (PBS) in Schools and Services, Safeguarding Children Policy SO-0189, Interim Addendum (latest revision 7.1.2021) and Anti-Bullying in Schools and Children and Young People SO-0193.

Purpose

The purpose of this policy document is:

1. To state the National Autistic Society's philosophy towards the promotion, and maintenance of positive wellbeing including mental and physical health within the relevant legal and regulatory framework.
2. To give guidance to staff in order to be able to identify, report and provide relevant support in the promotion, and maintenance of wellbeing and positive mental health.
3. To ensure staff understand and prioritise the rights and dignity of children and young people who access the National Autistic Society Schools, even when behaving in a physically challenging way, must always be borne in mind.
4. To support autistic pupils to keep themselves and others physically and mentally, emotionally healthy and safe as part of the PSHCE/Social curriculum offered in each of our schools and to enable them to develop the skills, knowledge, understanding, language and confidence to seek help, as needed for themselves and others.

This policy aims to ensure a common understanding across the National Autistic Society (NAS) schools regarding the reasons autistic people respond in the ways that they do to the demands and stresses in life, considering the impact of autism alongside an individual's own life events and experiences. The policy ensures that all aspects of wellbeing and positive mental health is underpinned within the NAS Quality of Life framework.

Introduction

The QoL framework has been developed to provide high-quality education whilst affording dignity, respect, kindness and compassion, in all aspects of our provisions, including the consideration of positive mental health and wellbeing. All pupils and students will be supported with:

- dignity and compassion
- valued and respected
- supported in achieving the QoL they wish and aspire to
- Supported and empowered
- Listened

In addition to promoting positive mental health, we aim to recognise and respond to mental ill health. By developing and implementing practical, relevant, supportive and effective mental health policies and procedures promoting a safe, stable and thriving environment for pupils and students who might be affected, both directly and indirectly, by mental ill health.

What is Mental Health

Mental health, defined by the World Health Organization, is "a state of well-being in which the individual realizes his or her own abilities, can cope with the normal stresses of life, can work productively and fruitfully, and is able to make a contribution to his or her community" (WHO, 2004).

The concept that mental health is not merely the absence of mental illness has been largely endorsed, as well as the notion of mental health as dynamic state, a continuum, of internal equilibrium which enables individuals to use their abilities in harmony with universal values of society. Basic cognitive and social skills; ability to recognize, express and modulate one's own emotions, as well as empathize with others; flexibility and ability to cope with adverse life events and function in social roles; and harmonious relationship between body and mind represent important components of positive mental health which contribute, to varying degrees, to the state of internal equilibrium.

Autism and Mental Health

Autistic pupils and students are at much higher risk of developing a mental health problem than the general population. 70% children and young people with autism will have a mental health concern at some point in their life and 40% will have two or more. This is reflected in the use of Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services, with 1 in 10 of the children and young people who use CAMHS having autism.

Teaching and Learning about Positive Mental Health & Wellbeing

Pupils and students, we support will have, where appropriate, an Individual Behaviour Support Plan (PBS/ISP/BSP) to assist in the management of their anxiety, distress and dysregulated arousal levels. We use the term 'support' as we recognise most behaviour results from unmet needs and therefore we focus on how we must provide support to meet those needs, not solely on the behaviour causing concern. The intention and aim are for people to be increasingly more independent in the management of their own behaviour, learning to self-regulate, developing their wellbeing.

The skills, knowledge and understanding needed by our pupils and students to keep themselves and others physically and mentally healthy and safe are included as part of the PSHCE Social curriculum offered in each of our schools. The content of lessons will be determined by individuals' specific needs with an emphasis on enabling pupils and students to develop the coping and tolerance skills, knowledge, understanding, language and confidence to self-manage as well as being equipped to seek help, as needed, for themselves or others.

We will ensure that we teach positive mental health and emotional wellbeing issues in a safe and sensitive manner which empowers and support pupils and students.

Wellbeing Teams and Early Response

Whilst all staff have a responsibility to promote the mental health of pupils there are dedicated teams in schools who have a specific remit in this area. The list below is not exclusive:

They are:

Wellbeing Officers

Mental Health 1st Aiders

School Nurses | Family Liaison Officers

Any member of staff who is concerned about the mental health or wellbeing of a pupil should speak to the mental health lead in the first instance. If there is a fear that the pupil is in danger of immediate harm then the normal child/adult protection procedures should be followed with an immediate referral to the designated safeguarding lead (DSL) or Principal. If the pupil presents a medical emergency then the normal procedures for medical emergencies should be followed, including alerting the first aid staff and contacting the emergency services if necessary. Where a referral to CAMHS is appropriate, this will be led and managed by the lead professional in the DSL/Transdisciplinary/MAST Team supporting the pupil.

Behavioural Assessment | Functional Assessment

The aim of the assessment process is to use evidence-based tools to gather information about the behaviours of concern and the context in which they occur including the person's abilities, needs (including their physical and mental health) and the characteristics of the social and physical environment which influence the behaviours of concern.

The depth of the assessment process will depend on individual need and will be established within the school transdisciplinary teams (TDT/MAST). Information gathered as part of the assessment should be brought together to create a joint understanding (formulation) of the hypothesised factors influencing the behaviours of concern. This should then be used to guide the development of person-centred strategies.

All assessments will be conducted in line with the expectations outlined in the NAS Positive Behaviour Support Policy. PBS plans that include restrictive practices or are more complex in nature may require clinical oversight above the author of the plan. This can be gained via a transdisciplinary team or through individual clinical supervision. The purpose of clinical oversight is to ensure the plan is fit for purpose and ethically sound.

Recognising Warning signs:

All staff may become aware of warning signs which indicate pupils and students are experiencing mental ill health or emotional wellbeing issues. These warning signs should always be taken seriously and staff observing any of these warning signs should communicate their concerns with the appropriate clinician or school lead for their setting. Possible warning signs include:

- Changes in eating or sleeping habits
- Physical signs of harm that are repeated or appear non-accidental
- New or increasing behaviours of distress
- Increased isolation from friends or family, becoming socially withdrawn
- Changes in activity and mood
- Significant lowering of academic achievement
- Talking or joking about self-harm or suicide
- Abusing drugs or alcohol
- Expressing feelings of failure, uselessness or loss of hope
- Changes in clothing – e.g. long sleeves in warm weather
- Secretive behaviour
- Lateness to or absence from school
- Repeated physical pain or nausea with no evident cause
- An increase in lateness or absenteeism

In an emergency, staff can only fall back on their professional experience and judgement of the situation, their training, their common-sense, the 'best interest' principle and their over-riding duty of care to wherever possible prevent harm to a vulnerable person. Provided staff act reasonably, proportionately and sensibly, their actions will be supported. Any such emergency action must be carefully recorded on an incident form / CPOMS.

What to do when you suspect a pupil is experiencing mental ill health

Schools will ensure that staff, pupils/students and parents are aware of sources of support within schools and colleges and in the wider local community. This includes access and referral to our Transdisciplinary Team/MAST and Clinical Leads Team. Schools will actively work in partnership with Social Care Services and Health, including CAMHS Teams, to ensure there is transdisciplinary working and contribute openly and transparently to cross multi-agency working.

Schools will display relevant sources of support in communal areas such as common rooms and toilets and will regularly weave and highlight sources of support for staff and pupils into relevant parts of the curriculum and when relevant and appropriate in newsletters.

Whenever sources of support are highlighted, Schools will increase the opportunities for pupil/students to help-seeking responses by ensuring pupils understand:

- What help is available
- Who it is aimed at
- How to access it
- Why to access it
- What is likely to happen next

Working with Parents and Carers

All families will be given a copy of the school's wellbeing and positive mental health policy prior to admission to the school. This helps pupils and students and their families to know how we work together to create a safe and positive living and learning environment according to the NAS Quality of Life framework.

We would always endeavour to work collaboratively with parents/carers, and be sensitive in our approach.

It can be upsetting for parents/carers to learn of their child's/young person's issues and many may respond with anger, fear or upset during the first conversation. We should be accepting of this and give the parent/carer time to reflect.

We would always signpost further sources of information and provide them with leaflets to take away where possible. Sharing sources of further support aimed specifically at parents/carers can also be helpful.

Clear means of contacting the school and relevant professionals with further questions and consider booking in a follow-up meeting or phone call right away as parents/carers often may have many questions as they process the information. Any meeting to end with agreed next steps and always keep a brief record of the meeting on the child's/young person's confidential record.

Furthermore, in order to support parents/carers the school will endeavour to:

- Highlight reliable and informative sources of information and support about common mental ill health issues.
- Ensure that they are aware of who to talk to, and how to go about this, if they have concerns about their own child/young person or a friend of their child/young person.
- Share schools' wellbeing and mental health policy in an easily accessible manner for parents/carers.
- Share ideas about how parents/carers can support wellbeing and positive mental health in their child/young person.
- Closely working with external multi-agencies to include CAMHS teams, Social care, Challenging Behaviour-LD and any other professional involved in the circle of care of the pupil/student.

Mental Health First Aiders

All schools should have an appropriate number of mental health first aid trained staff who can support pupils as well as colleagues. Mental Health First Aid training (MHFA) is a recognised course, certified by Mental Health First Aid England
